

A tighter deadline caps the power reduction — only when the data is large to move

